CHICAGO, July 12.—Two easy games were won to-day by the league leading Dodgers as a start on their series of six contests in this city. Another double-header will be played on Wednesday. "Speed" Martin was pounded to a pulp for sixteen hits in the opener, Brooklyn winning by 13 to 4. Claude Hendrix was treated almost as badly—thirteen hits being made off him-when the pacemakers won the second by 10 to 2.

Burleigh Grimes allowed the Cubs eight hits in the first game, one of which was a home run by Dave Robertson over the right field fence in the eighth inning. Brooklyn used substitutes after the victory was clinched. Zack Taylor, the young catcher, was on duty after the third inning and made a single and a double, the latter driving in two runs.

Sherrod Smith pitched the second for Brooklyn, and the first run was scored off him in the sixth inning, when he had a comfortable lead of seven tallies. Errors by the Chicago players helped the Dodgers in both contests.

Take the Lead Early

Two runs were made off Martin in the first inning of the curtain raiser. Olson walked and scored on Johnston's sacrifice and Wheat's single. The single went through Paskert's legs and What continued to the plate. Kilduff walked in the second and got home on Miller's single and Grimes's sacrifice fiy. Wheat was safe on Herzog's muff in the third, with two out, and scored on Meyers's triple. Meyers scored on Herzog's fumble of Koney's grounder. The sixth inning netted the Dodgers five runs from five singles, a two-bagger by Griffith and a muff at the plate by O'Farrell. Koney singled and Kilduff walked in the sixth, with two out, and both scored on Taylor's double. Griffith tripled with two out in the seventh. Bill McCabe, who played the last three innings in left, singled, scoring Griffith. Bill was presented with a watch and speeches and flowers by his fellow Chicagoans between games.

The Yanks seem to be the sole hope of the East in a world series way. If they can't wiggle through the One Best Bet is Cincinnati vs. Cleveland-in any event a Western affair.

The Battle-Scarred State

If Cincinnati and Cleveland get into a world series, with Harding and Cox fighting it out for the Presidential choice, Ohio will be the Flanders Fields of 1920-or the new Argonne of the year. The tumult and the turmoil will be terrific in the death grapple that will follow. It is hard to say which will cause more excitement—Cox vs. Harding or Cincinnati vs. Cleveland. A strictly Ohio world series will be the last

The decisive stage of both races should be reached soon. A number of contenders are due to crack in the next few weeks, for the strain has been terrific-harder than either league has known since 1908. The general average of team strength has either been higher or at least better bunched, and no club can tell when a second division outfit will rise up and remove several patches of valuable hide at a given moment or stated

If Walter Johnson had been able to carry an untrammelled arm all the year Clark Griffith's team would be even closer to the top. It was a tough break for Johnson to suddenly find himself surrounded by a cluster of .300 hitters and sterling run makers and then have a kink in his arm slow up his usual effectiveness. Grif's club has been hitting the ball and scoring a lot of runs. Enough runs to return Johnson a winner in nine out of ten starts under normal

But so it goes. When one thing goes right something else goes wrong, thereby adding continual bunkers to the Perfect State.

In which connection it might be well to mention an athlete by the name of Sam Rice, who is not only hitting the ball but is leading all base runners by one of the widest margins yet offered. Grif at last has the hard hitting, run making outfield he has been reaching after for some fifteen years. A number of things will happen along if you can BASEBALL TO-DAY, 2 games; Yankees wait fifteen years.

East has a pennant chance, and Brooklyn has a robust assignment ahead when it comes to beat out all three Western rivals.

The four Western clubs are much stronger than the four Eastern clubs. In the National League the West has a lopsided advantage. No doubt of it. The Reds will take a lot of beating before they surrender that $5,000 prize money, which will be the reward of each winning athlete.

The three leading contenders in the American League are Cleveland. New York and Chicago.

Once more the West has the call. Both Cleveland and Chicago have a serious proposition ahead when it comes to eliminating the Toe-Hold Yanks.

The Yanks have never been extremely lucky in the way of injured athletes, but this season they have too much power to be overlooked.

Toney's Wild Pitch in 10th Costs Contest

McGraw's Team Beaten, 4 to 3, After Overcoming Handicap of Three Runs

From a Special Correspondent ST. LOUIS, July 12.—Branch Rickey's Cardinals, who defeated the Giants in four straight games at the Polo Grounds several weeks ago, handed the New Yorkers another trouncing in the first contest of the series here this afternoon. It was a ten-inning battle and the final score was 4 to 3. It was the first time the McGraw clan had played at the local American League Park.

Park.

Ponderous Fred Toney uncorked a fatal wild pitch in the tenth, which allowed Heathcote to score from the second with the winning run. The Cards' right fielder had singled and advanced to second on a sacrifice by Haines.

New York's big right-hander pitched in masterly style and allowed only eight hits in the ten innings. Four of these came in the riotous first, when the locals shoved three runs across. Toney then settled down and held his opponents scoreless until the final inning.

Seven Passes Off Haines

Seven Passes Off Haines

Jesse Haines, who was on the mound for St. Louis, yielded only six safeties, but was rather wild and issued seven bases on balls. Two of these came in the second inning and helped the Giants to two of their runs.

The Cards bumped Tony hard in the first inning and got away to a threerun lead. Jack Smith, the first batter, beat out an infield tap to Kelly. Fournier scored Smith a moment later with a slashing double to right. Jacques tried to take three bases on the hit, but Pep Young nailed him with a beautiful throw to Frisch. Stock drew a base on balls and stole second when Bancroft dropped Earl Smith's perfect peg. Rogers Hornsby hoisted a fly to Young and Stock went to third after the catch.
